Samples of 'Gremlins' in Wedding Stories

SOCIAL ITEMS: Sometimes it takes a long time for a thing to get around, and it has arrived now in Harrisburg. It is so good I'll have to pass it on to you.

Neil Plummer, head of the School of Journalism, University of Kentucky, compiled a list of "gremlins" found in actual accounts of actual weddings. They were published in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Carmi resident saw them, passed them on to the Carmi Daily Times. The Vienna Times picked them up out of the Carmi Times and Timmo got them out of the Vienna paper. Here are some of the samples that actually got into print:

"H - - - and Miss B - - - went to a country high school together in Kansas and their marriage will stop a romance begun between them there."

"The bride wore a single strand of tiny matched pearls."

"Lovely and graceful she appeared in her gown of vile green."

"The bride's gown was blended rose chiffon, and her accessories were plain punk."

"Mrs. R - - - , mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a soft blue lace dress which fell to the floor."

"The bridesmaids carried sheafs of pink hoses."

"The bride was given in marriage by her father, wearing her mother's wedding gown."

"The maid of honor wore a bouffant gown of pale yellow tulle."

"The bridesmaids, beautifully attired, carried tiny nosebags."

"Elizabeth Ann B - - - , the flower girl, wore a quaint Kate Greenway maize gown with puffed sleeves touching her ankles."

"Miss G - - - of Brooklyn, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor and acted as best man."

"The bride's mother wore a dawn blue chiffon and a black stray hat and her flowers were gardenias."

"The bride approached the altar decorated with palms, tall baskets of lilies and five-inch candelabra on the arm of her father."

"Miss B - - - , given in marriage by her father, walked the flower covered chancel rail wearing a gown of ivory satin trimmed in old lace."

"The nuptials took place in a setting illuminated by lighted Roman candles."

"A musical program was presented by Mrs. M. A. W - - - and the Rev. Roy D - - - read the marriage vows."

"Bishop S - - - conducted the first part of the simple ceremony, and Dr. P - - - took it up at the point where the couple exchanged their vows."

"The bridal couple then passed out and greeted the guests."

"After the wedding ceremony, the couple entertained 50 fresh fish at Putnam's Market."

"They were married at a quaint ceremony yesterday, attended by only a few loose friends and relatives."

Louie Stricklin Elected Worshipful Master by Masons

Louie M. Stricklin was elected worshipful master of Harrisburg Lodge No. 325, A. F. & A. M., last night at an election meeting held at the Masonic temple. He succeeds James Stricklin.

Other elected officers: W. L. Armistead, senior warden; Alonzo Shewmake Jr., junior warden; E. Bishop Hill, treasurer; Paul Spangler, secretary.

The new worshipful master announced that his appointive officers would be:

Installation will be Tuesday, Dec. 28.

Jurors Reveal Difficulty in Deciding Verdict

Doctor Held in Jail; to Argue New Trial Motion Dec. 30

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard wife-murder jury took so long in reaching a verdict because it had difficulty in deciding just how guilty the osteopathic surgeon was, it was reported today.

The Cleveland Press said it had learned in talks with the jurors and those associated with them that they took 18 ballots during their five-day deliberation.

From the second ballot, the only issue was how guilty Dr. Sam was, the newspaper said. It took three days to thrash that out.

Two women jurors voted to acquit on the first ballot last Friday night, but by Saturday afternoon they had joined the rest in concluding that Dr. Sam bludgeoned his pregnant wife, Marilyn, to death, the newspaper said.

It took three days of deliberation to work out the degree of guilt—second-degree murder. The jury foreman, James C. Bird, pressed the buzzer late Tuesday afternoon, disclosing the five women and seven men were unanimous in a verdict.

Deliberated 102 Hours

The jury got the case Friday morning. They deliberated 102 hours before deciding on guilt in the second degree, which made a life prison sentence mandatory.

However, the 30-year-old sports-loving doctor is eligible for parole in 10 years.

Dr. Sheppard was under "suicide guard" in an isolated observation cell in the county jail today. Jailers said that was routine for prisoners convicted of murder. He was expected to be transferred back soon to a cell block with other prisoners.

Sentenced Immediately

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin within four minutes after getting the verdict on a printed form from juror No. 9, Foreman James C. Bird, called the defendant before the bench and sentenced him to life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary. The sentence was mandatory. In 10 years he could be paroled.

Defense attorney William J. Corrigan, after the jury was dismissed got a stay of execution postponing transfer of the prisoner to the penitentiary until the new trial motion can be argued Dec. 30.

Annual Ladies' Night Christmas Party at Kiwanis

Members of the Kiwanis club last night enjoyed their annual Ladies' night Christmas party with a good attendance of members, their wives and guests.

Entertainment was furnished by a medley of songs by a mixed group of high school singers who were accompanied by John Schork at the piano. The group was composed of Patty Hodson, Dorothy Hanning, Nancy Fulkerson, Barbara Dunn, Larry Landers, Dick Fritts, Fred Kinnaman, Dick Childers, Oren Brown and John Baker.

Group singing of Christmas carols by those present followed. The singing was led by Bob Burnett.

A door prize was awarded Mrs. Frank Gray and poinsettias were awarded Mrs. Loy Barger and Mrs. Guy Lawrence. There was also the regular exchange of Christmas gifts.

Special guests last night were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Minner, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Barger, Miss Martha Armistead, guest of her father, Fred Armistead, and Julian Vallette, a visiting Kiwanian from Edwardsville.

This was the final meeting of the year for club president, John L. Schork. Officers will be installed next Tuesday for the coming year with Dan Davis the incoming president.

Have Trouble Selecting Names for Twins, 17th and 18th Children

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Barnes, Spokane, were having trouble today selecting names for their new-born twins.

Mrs. Barnes, 36, said "we've about run out of names" for their 17th and 18th children.

Co-Existence or No Existence, Stevenson Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, said today "it is either co-existence or no existence in the atomic-hydrogen age."

Stevenson's statement was contained in a series of predictions for 1955 collected from national and world leaders by Look Magazine. "Co-existence" was the subject of many of the predictions.

Stevenson said he saw "no present prospect for a 'change in the Communist policy of creeping conquest . . . Little present basis for anticipating the outbreak of general war . . . Little prospect that we can safely reduce our defenses or relax our guard. We will have to co-exist with our ruthless, ambitious, implacable Communist neighbors whether we like it or not."

Shells Burst Near Airliner Over Formosa

TOKYO (AP)—Three shells burst near a Northwest Airlines plane today shortly after it left Taipei, Formosa, on a regular run to Tokyo.

The plane was over the northern tip of Formosa, and was heading out to sea when the shells exploded. None of the shells struck the plane.

Indications were the shells came from Chinese Nationalist anti-aircraft guns which were conducting practice firing in the area.

"We think that the shell bursts came from anti-aircraft practice in the Mount Tansui region," a Northwest official said after investigation with Nationalist officials in Taipei.

Veteran pilot Walter Bullock of Lakeville, Minn., said the nearest shell exploded "one mile to the right" of the airliner. The explosions took place within 14 minutes.

The plane landed at Tokyo at 7:40 p. m. (4:40 a. m. CST) after a brief stopover at Okinawa. The flight had originated in Hong Kong.

Bullock said the first shell exploded "five miles ahead of us, the next one one mile to the right of us and the third and last five miles to the rear."

"We weren't in immediate danger, but I'd like to know what they were shooting at," he said.

Passengers Unaware of Shelling

Bullock said the shells "definitely came from below," although there was a heavy mist and the crew could not see who was firing.

Mystery over the source of the firing gave rise to speculation that the shells might have come from Nationalist artillery in training.

Bullock said there was a U. S. Air Force C-47 in the vicinity of his plane at the time of the incident, but that when he talked to the C-47's crew over the radio they told him they had seen nothing.

Bullock said the first shell was "just a puff of smoke." However, co-pilot Binton R. Hanson of Springfield, Wis., said the shell bursts "looked awfully big."

None of the passengers landing at Tokyo airport was aware of the shelling.

Draft Rules Will Not Be Changed, Hershey Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today draft rules will not be changed as a result of reduced monthly calls but that registrants undoubtedly will find it a little easier to win deferments.

The draft director said the administration's decision to cut inductions in half—from 22,000 or 23,000 to 10,000 or 11,000 monthly—also will mean draft-age youngsters will have longer to wait before their selection, even if they are not deferred.

Other experts in Hershey's office said in some areas the delay already is running about three years from the time a man registers at age 18, and that under the reduced calls it may go as high as four. They said this could mean that some young men may finish college without ever seeking deferment.

Hershey said some few registrants might escape the draft altogether, although he does not think this likely.

Another inevitable result of the cutback, Hershey told a reporter, is that rejections for physical reasons will rise, as the services get more selective. About 33 per cent of all registrants already are being classed as unfit.

Evan Dale is Held in Jail Pending Appeal

Bond Ordered Withdrawn by Judge Fred Wham

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Southern Illinois AFL leader Evan R. Dale was held in jail today pending appeal of a labor racketeering conviction for which he was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Dale, who was convicted Dec. 7 of conspiracy to extort and attempting to extort $1,030,000 from Ebasco Services, Inc., contractor on the huge Joppa, Ill., power plant, was sentenced Tuesday.

U. S. District Judge Fred L. Wham, who sentenced Dale, 38, withdrew his $10,000 bond and ordered him into immediate custody pending appeal.

Dale, who was also convicted of actually extorting $7,500 from an Ebasco subcontractor, was sentenced to concurrent terms of 15 years on each of the three counts. An additional $10,000 fine was levied on the actual extortion conviction.

Bail Refused

James Bateman, AFL Pipefitters union official of Murphysboro, Ill., who was charged and convicted with Dale on the attempted extortion charge, was fined $2,000 and placed on five years probation.

Wham, in refusing to admit Dale to bail, described him as a "menace to the union labor movement, to the state and to the men you represented."

He told Dale, "You deserve a severe sentence."

Wham said Bateman's reputation was good and he "stayed on the fringe of the light cast by Dale's bold operations."

The judge ordered Bateman to disassociate himself from leadership in his union and said he may not hold union office during the probation period.

His Republican Party

Dale, who is head of the AFL Laborers and Hodcarriers Southern Illinois District Council, was once a leader in the downstate Republican party. As he was led away to jail he gave reporters a statement which said:

"I now believe labor's interests and labor's trust can never be served by the Republican Party."

Communion Service Christmas Eve at First Presbyterian

A candlelighting communion service will be held at 11 p. m. on Christmas Eve in the First Presbyterian church.

This has been a traditional service for many years in the city of Harrisburg with the exception of last year due to the burning of the old church building.

This year the Presbyterian church has purchased new metal candelabra which will add beauty to the sanctuary.

The youth and adult choirs will sing an Austrian carol entitled "As Late as We Watched," and a quartet composed of Nancy Fulkerson, Dorothy Hanning, Patricia Hodson and Catherine Anderson will sing "The Infant King."

The highlight of the evening will be the communion service followed by the service of the lights whereby in the darkness the minister lights the candles on the communion table and then the ordained Elders take their light from this candle and go through the sanctuary lighting the individual candles of the worshippers. The youth choir will sing "Silent Night" during this time.

Everyone in the community is invited to come to the Presbyterian church on Christmas Eve and together remember the birth of the newborn King.

Cousin of Truman Dies at Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Thursday for Mrs. Suda Wells, 89, a cousin of former President Harry S. Truman.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Wells moved to Illinois with her family when a young girl and lived in Murphysboro 60 years before moving here. Her mother and Mr. Truman's mother were sisters.

Mrs. Wells met the former President for the last time in 1948 when he spoke at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Mr. Truman recognized his cousin immediately although they had not seen each other for 34 years.

Jealous Mental Patient Frees Girl Held 24 Hours, Surrenders

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP)—A jealousy-crazed mental patient who held his girl friend captive in a barricaded textile mill packing room more than 24 hours released her unharmed today and surrendered himself.

The girl, Jessie Elizabeth Davis, 29, left the building of the Royal Cotton Mills early this afternoon accompanied by her minister, the Rev. George Tillman.

Sheriff's deputies brought out Graham Timberlake, the man who had held her captive since 11:30 a. m. Tuesday, and took him immediately to Raleigh to be committed to a mental institution.

Earlier Timberlake had released the girl briefly but had forced her to return by holding a doctor, Dr. George Corbin Jr., as a substitute hostage at the point of a .25 caliber pistol.

Girl Is Unhurt

Wake Forest Town Solicitor J. C. Keater said "Miss Davis is all right." She was taken home.

The girl was wearing a white dress and a pale yellow spotted coat. She left the building by a tunnel at a side entrance and was helped into a car.

Timberlake, a 31-year-old former mental patient, was led out the front entrance by deputies.

Timberlake held Miss Davis in the cotton mill packing room with his pistol because he claimed she was dating another man.

Until shortly after noon, he had resisted with threats to kill efforts to gain the girl's release. Then finally he said he would let her go if police would summon a doctor to his side.

One Respite

The girl's only respite from the long ordeal was when Timberlake permitted her to leave with her sister to go to a rest room for a few moments about 11 a. m.

While she was gone, he held a pistol pointed at Dr. George Corbin, who went into the packing room in response to Timberlake's summons.

Timberlake late this morning had allowed several doctors to come in and talk to him.

"The doctors have decided he is deranged," Keater said.

Timberlake, who had dated the girl regularly until a few months ago, had offered to exchange his hostage Tuesday night for a Ft. Bragg, N. C., soldier whom she had dated.

He said he wanted to kill the soldier, deputies said.

At 11 a. m. reporters, who were not permitted on mill property, were told by Keater that the girl had been released and that Corbin had made her promise to return under threat of killing Corbin.

Then, an hour later, Timberlake meekly surrendered.

Fire Destroys Tipple of Mine

LIVINGSTON, Ill. (AP)—Fire destroyed the tipple and coal screening plant at the Livingston-Mount Olive Coal Co. mine here early today.

Four miners working below ground when the fire started escaped through an air shaft. No one was hurt.

Damage was estimated at $200,000 by R. J. Collett, chief engineer of the mine.

He said there was no underground damage but the mine, which employs 134 men, will have to shut down until the tipple is rebuilt.

Estimate 370 to Die in Christmas Traffic Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—Experts for the National Safety Council estimated today that 370 persons will die in traffic accidents during the Christmas weekend.

Council spokesmen said the estimate covered the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday. "S.D. Day a week ago proved that just a little more concerted effort by motorists and pedestrians can make a real dent in the traffic toll," said Council President Ned H. Dearborn.

"That extra effort is even more important this weekend when travel and holiday hazards will be so much greater," he said.

Vote to Continue Segregation in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Hugh White today summoned Mississippi legislators to meet Jan. 11 to enact legislation, approved by voters Tuesday, to preserve segregation in Mississippi schools.

In a special referendum Mississippi voters, by a two-to-one majority, ratified a "last resort" amendment permitting abolition of public schools, if necessary, to maintain school segregation.

White said he would fulfill immediately his pledge that if the amendment passed, he would call a special legislative session for Jan. 11 to consider adoption of a long-range school building program to bring institutions for Negroes up to the levels of white schools.

Returns from 1,076 of the state's 1,805 precincts showed a vote of 78,685 for the amendment to 34,465 against. The vote was considered a heavy one for an election which came in the midst of the Christmas shopping season and which had no statewide candidacies at stake.

Joins Two Other States

Mississippi thus has become, with Georgia and South Carolina, the third southern state to prepare legal machinery for abolishing public schools and setting up private schools, if necessary, to sidestep a possible U. S. Supreme Court order forbidding public school segregation.

The governor and other top Mississippi officials supporting the amendment promised opponents it would not be used unless necessary. As a show of good faith, they promised to continue improving Negro school facilities.

The amendment permits the legislature to abolish public schools on a state-wide basis by a two-thirds vote of its members, or by districts on a simple majority vote, and authorizes a state-supported private school system in which it was believed Negroes and whites could legally be educated separately.

This proposal was opposed chiefly by school teachers, parent teacher groups, by several state legislators, and by most of the Negroes. In Mound Bayou, the state's one all-Negro community, the official count went against the amendment, 123 to 1.

Steffey Elected IAA President

CHICAGO (AP)—Otto Steffey, Stronghurst, has been elected president of the Illinois Agricultural Assn.

Steffey, a vice president of the association since 1951, was named Tuesday to succeed Charles B. Shuman, Sullivan, who last week was elected president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Steffey will assume the presidency Jan. 1, 1955, and will serve until the next IAA convention in November, 1955, the association's board of directors said.

No one was named to fill Steffey's vice presidency.

Steffey, who was first elected to the IAA board of directors in 1934, was born in Henderson county and attended Stronghurst school. He married Ruth Davis in 1919, and the couple has one daughter, Mrs. Charles Smith, Monmouth.

Steffey farms 370 acres in Henderson county on a share-lease agreement with his hired men.

Burglars Steal 23,616 Diapers

Approach to Shawneetown Bridge Planned

Will Build New Pavement to Wabash River Bridge

The proposed improvement program for the primary highway system in Illinois for 1955 was released today in detail and it revealed that major work is in prospect on a two and a half-mile approach to the new Ohio river bridge at Shawneetown and that connecting links of concrete highway will be constructed for the new Wabash river bridge near New Haven.

Estimated cost of a 2.45 mile stretch of 22-foot concrete pavement on Route 13 at Shawneetown is $1,200,000. A bridge and the viaduct are included in this figure.

The date for completion of the Shawneetown bridge has been set for November, 1955, and it is assumed that contracts will be let so that the road work completion will coincide with the finishing of the bridge.

Shorter Route

In White county, plans call for a 6.42-mile stretch of 22-foot concrete pavement from Route 141 just west of New Haven to the bridge and for one bridge on this route, at a cost of $2,813,000, and for a 2.98-mile stretch of 22-foot concrete pavement from U. S. 45 at Gossett to the Routes 1-141 intersection directly to the east.

This would give motorists going north on Route 45 and desiring to go to Evansville and points to the east a much shorter route than is now traversed. Cost of the 2.98-mile connecting link has been estimated at $363,000.

Another project in this immediate area is the proposed construction of two bridges on Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonefort at a cost of $395,000.

Other Proposals

A look at the detailed plans show also these proposals:

In Jackson county, from Sixth street in Murphysboro, a 6.30-mile stretch of 22 to 44 foot concrete pavement running north of the present Route 13 to near the west corporate limits of Carbondale, to cost an estimated $850,000; and a 3.41-mile stretch on Route 13 from Murphysboro north, to cost an estimated $400,000.

In Pulaski county, 4.59 miles of 24-foot bituminous resurfacing on Route 37 from near the Olmsted spur in Olmsted to 2.50 miles north of Mound City, to cost an estimated $495,000.

In Williamson, 5.65 miles of 22-foot surfacing and resurfacing of Route 148 from Herrin to Route 13 to cost an estimated $666,000.

Right-of-way acquisition for widening of shoulders on Route 45 south from Gossett to Harrisburg, a distance of nearly 17 miles, at an estimated cost of $15,000.

Right-of-way acquisition for bituminous resurfacing and bridge construction on Route 45 from Carrier Mills south to near the Williamson-Johnson county line, a distance of 7.83 miles, estimated cost $400,000.

In Williamson, 5.65 miles of 22-foot surfacing and resurfacing of Route 148 from Herrin to Route 13 to cost an estimated $666,000.

Right-of-way acquisition for widening of shoulders on Route 45 south from Gossett to Harrisburg, a distance of nearly 17 miles, at an estimated cost of $15,0

It Will Be Politics as Usual, Or Worse, in 1956 Campaign

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Despite a lot of talk of "clean campaigns," politics is right back where it usually is—on the roughhouse road. And the 1956 presidential campaign has already opened — a year early — without avowed candidates for either major party.

These facts were made evident on the first day that Paul M. Butler of Indiana, new Democratic National Committee chairman, stuck his feet under the desk he'll take over officially next Jan. 1.

He called a press conference to let everybody know he was around. He began it by saying to one reporter that things would be more interesting if "Lily Christine" were there. He seemed to miss her, but would get along without her. This was significant.

Lily Christine—for the benefit of those who don't get around—is "The Cat Girl," a strip-tease artist. She provided relaxation for some of the delegates at a recent Democratic meeting.

This little touch of free publicity should be worth quite a lot to Lily Christine.

CHAIRMAN BUTLER SAID LATER ON that the Democrats had lost their star attraction for the $100-a-plate dinners that had finally put them $21,000 in the black. The reference here was to Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic standard bearer in 1952 and still head of the party, according to Mr. Butler.

Governor Stevenson has now expressed a desire to retire from the political spotlight for a time and practice law to raise a little money for his own use instead of raising it for the Democratic cause.

Butler indicated that he had other star attractions, though he didn't name them. Maybe Lily Christine. The chairman said he wasn't going to be so much interested in these $100-a-head affairs. What he was after was more $1, $5 and $10 contributions from more little people. This revives an idea that Beardsley Ruml had in 1952. Brought forward late in the campaign, it didn't work too well.

Ruling May Add $10 to $12 Million More Sales Tax

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Revenue Director Richard J. Lyons today was optimistic the state will collect another 10 to 12 million dollars in a sales tax case. Lyons commented on the Illinois Supreme Court's ruling Monday awarding the state $278,636 in taxes and penalties from Superior Coal Co. for July 1, 1948, to July 31, 1951.

He said the decision increased the state's chances for collecting "10 to 12 million dollars" from Pressed Steel Car Co., Chicago, in another case now before the court. Lyons said similar points were argued in both cases.

The Superior Coal Co. case concerned sales of coal by Superior to its owning parent firm, Chicago and North Western Railroad. The coal company had argued that since the railroad carried this coal to out-of-state points for use, these sales were interstate. Sales in interstate commerce are not subject to the Illinois tax.

But the high court said: "We must come to the inescapable conclusion that once the coal was loaded into the cars of the railroad at the mine in Illinois, the coal then became for all practical purposes the property of the railroad."

Lyons said the state will now collect taxes from Superior Coal Co. on sales for 1951-54. He said total collections in this case may reach a half-million dollars.

STATEMENT indicated he would have a "gloves off" approach in dealing with President Eisenhower. His statement was not clothed in polite language. It gave President Eisenhower the "old Harry" for alleged failures to unite the Republican Party and the country. It indicated that the Democratic chairman would continue to expose the alleged failures of the President—without making any personal attacks upon him.

Well, that served to raise the curtain on the 1956 campaign, along with Sen. Joe McCarthy's repudiation of his prior support for President Eisenhower. Neither event indicates that the New Year will be filled with either sweetness or light. It will be politics as usual, or worse.

LAST SEPTEMBER REPUBLICAN National Committee Chairman Leonard Hall and Democratic National Committee Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell signed a code in which they pledged a decent, honest and fair campaign.

The next day Chairman Mitchell broke out in a joint television debate with Chairman Hall, in which the Democratic chieftain accused Vice President Richard M. Nixon of "an outright lie" in saying that the Republican administration had "kicked the Communists out of government by the thousands."

Chairman Hall immediately rushed to the defense of Mr. Nixon, demanded that Mitchell apologize or else publicly repudiate his fair play pledge.

Nixon never retracted his statement, and Mitchell never apologized.

That was the end of the noble intention to wage a decent campaign. And that's about as long as you can expect politics to stay cleaned up, ever.

Woman's Club Meets At Masonic Temple

The Carrier Mills Woman's club met Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Masonic temple. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Carrie B. Wasson, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Mrs. Ella Chase.

The program chairman, Mrs. Loren Dallas, asked Mrs. Pauline Thornton to lead the group in singing "Silent Night," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ina Melven, an especially invited guest. The minutes were read by Mrs. Blanche Whitney, secretary, and approved. The treasurer's report by Mrs. May Dallas, was also accepted.

Mrs. Bertha Molsinger gave the meditation reading from the Book of Mark, the theme bringing Christ into Christmas. She concluded by reading the Christmas story taken from St. Luke 2nd chapter, and then led in prayer.

Mrs. Thornton sang "Bells of St. Mary," and Mrs. Dallas presented Mrs. J. A. Musgrave, the guest speaker. Mrs. Musgrave spoke on "Bells" and had numerous bells on display and gave the history of each one. She also told of other bells she had in her collection which are too fragile to be displayed. Club members were invited to her home to view her collection.

The program was closed by singing Christmas carols led by Mrs. Thornton and accompanied by Mrs. Melven at the piano. Other officers present were Mrs. Jane Pankey, first vice president; Mrs. Ruby Eife, second vice president; and Mrs. Lorel Jennings, corresponding secretary.

Hostesses were Mesdames Addie Miller, Zephia Blackman, Irene Rushing, Maude Shelton, Selma Nolen and Thelma Spears.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 10 at the Masonic temple at 7:30 p. m.

Christmas Party by Daughters of Ruth Class

The Daughters of Ruth Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met Thursday, Dec. 18, for the regular monthly meeting and Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Flouetta Meler.

A Christmas gift was presented to the class teacher, Mrs. Carrie Ammon, and gifts were exchanged. Games were played and refreshments of fruit cocktail pudding, coffee and Cokes were served to the following members: Carrie Ammon, Maggie McCutcheon, Hollie Hunt, Bernice Hill, Bea Wible, and two visitors, Dimple Stricklin and June Ricketts.

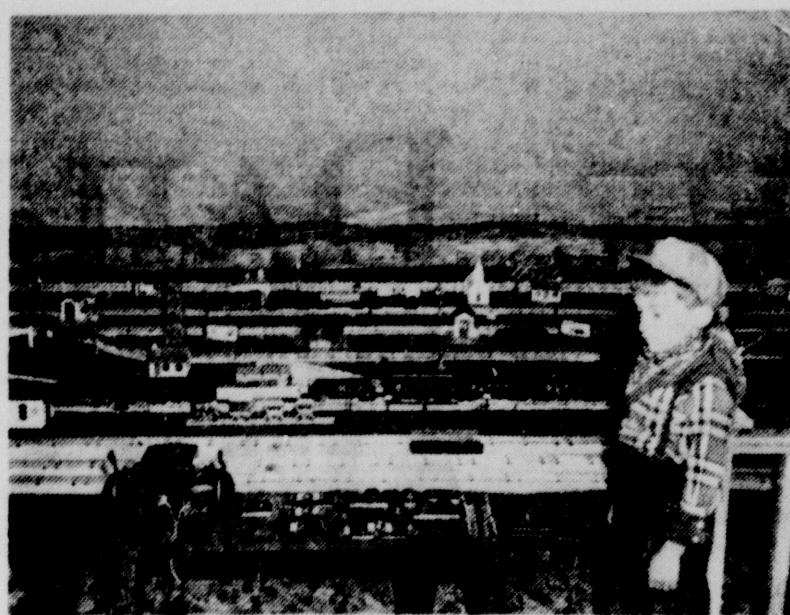

The hostess, Mrs. Meler, was assisted by Mrs. Gazelle Henson.

Merit System Exams For Public Aid Visitor To Be Held on Jan. 15

The Illinois Merit System council will hold open competitive examinations on Jan. 15 for Public Aid Visitor I in the 101 downstate county departments of welfare. All applications must be received in the Merit Council office, 231 West Jackson street, Springfield, or postmarked before the closing date of Jan. 3.

Application blanks are available at the Merit System Council office, in Springfield; county department of welfare; Illinois State Employment service, or the Illinois Public Aid Commission, Room 201, Armory Building, Springfield. All applicants will be individually notified where and when to report for the written examinations.

The emu, the national bird of Australia, is the second largest of living birds. Adults average five feet in height.

LITTLE DAVID BRIDGES, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridges, New London, Wis., is the engineer of a railroad layout that most boys his age can only dream about. He is shown here near the controls that operate the three train system. David's mother is the former Mary Paulina Davis of Harrisburg.

Miniature Railroad Has 300 Feet Of Track, Took Four Years to Build

Robert Bridges, New London, Wis., used 300 feet of track, 550 feet of wire and four years of his spare time in the labor of love that produced the eight by 18 foot model railroad layout which is the continuing delight of his son, David, and no doubt the envy of all David's little friends.

(Mr. Bridges is formerly from Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Bridges was formerly Mary Paulina Davis of Harrisburg. They have lived in New London, Wis., for the past seven years, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, moved there from Harrisburg several years ago. She was employed by R. C. Davenport's office before her marriage.)

The rolling stock of this authentic miniature railroad consists of three freight trains with locomotives that make smoke and whistle, dozens of cars of every description, including coal gondolas, tank cars, box cars and cattle cars. The track footage is complete with eight switches to route trains from one track to another, couplers to connect and disconnect cars automatically and has all the semaphores, highway traffic gates and automatic watchmen to control traffic at the crossings.

Trackside equipment in the switching yards includes automatic machinery to load and unload barrels, logs, and coal, and there is even an operating oil derrick.

A little village with a postoffice, library, depot and church to supplement the dwellings add realism to the scene, as does a farm complete with cattle and a miniature airport.

Future additions to the layout

Galatia High School Notes

The Galatia high school Christmas program was presented Monday night in the gymnasium, under the direction of Mrs. Pat Lee, school musical director.

The program consisted of the following: Pantomime of "O Holy Night" by Delores May, Sue Fowler and Dixie Merck; This Christmas, Silver Bells, and a Medley of Christmas Carols by the Girls' chorus; "Let's Keep Christmas" by Frosty Chuck; "Winter Wonderland" by Phyllis Odle, Donna Eubanks and Juanita Williams; and Christmas Dragnet by Nancy Peyton, Brenda Starkey, Sue Fowler and Judy Pittman.

Also, "I Just Go Nuts at Christmas" by Scotty Abney; "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus" by Judy Pittman; instrumental ensemble by John Tate, Donna Eubanks, Sherry Bovinet, Freddie Edwards and Brenda Starkey; "I Want Eddie Fisher for Christmas" by Naida Webber; "The Lord's Prayer" Juanita Williams; girls' sextette singing "Santa Claus is Coming to Town"—Evelene Braden, Phyllis Odle, Judy Pittman, Donna Eubanks, Juanita Williams, and Jancie Edwards; "All I Want for Christmas is My Two Front Teeth" duet by Naida Webber and Juanita Williams; and "The Night Before Christmas" by Vurbie Keel-in.

Mrs. Lee accompanied the students at the piano and organ.

On Dec. 11, the Junior class of Galatia high presented their play entitled "Whoa Auntie." The play cast consisted of 13 pupils in the following roles:

Aunt Jessie, Juanita Williams; Jeremiah Fay, John M. Tate; Jerry Jr., Charles White; Marcia, Nancy Abney; Clarence Melbourne, Ronnie Gray; Carolyn Anderson, Claire Tyler; Ted Carter, Eugene Cluck; Gail Hendricks, Frances Rann; Lorraine Grayson, Kay Stone; Sally Farrell, Donna Eubanks; Gardner Farrell, Scotty Abney; Martie Farrell, Velma Gee; Officer Brady, Freddie Edwards. Following the presentation, Mrs. Pat Lee, Mrs. Mildred Kastine and Earl Rapp were presented with gifts by members of the cast.

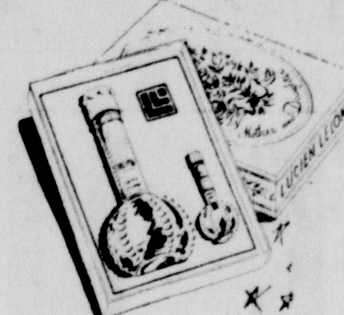

A Girls' Athletic association was organized recently at Galatia high school. The association is sponsored by Mrs. Jane Wickham and Mrs. Pat Lee.

The following officers were elected for the school year 1954-55: Sherry Bovinet, president; Judy Clarida, vice president; Kay Stone, secretary; and Jane Knight, treasurer.

The purpose of the GAA is to stimulate interest in active participation in the physical education program at the high school level. The girls participate in the following activities: soccer, volleyball, softball, hiking, basketball, table tennis, badminton, etc. Points are earned for active participation and awards are presented at the close of the school year.

First Christian Ruth Gray Class Has Party

The Ruth Gray class of the First Christian church held a Christmas party in the Fellowship hall at the close of church services Sunday night.

Mrs. Howard Street led in the devotion, giving the impressive Christmas story as recorded in Luke. She closed with prayer.

A social hour of games and entertainment was conducted by Mrs. Street and Mrs. Glen Daugherty. The exchange of gifts was made and gifts of special appreciation were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Mrs. William Sloan Jr., teacher of the class, by Mrs. Willard Rutherford, class president. Mrs. Sloan gave love tokens to the members.

The Fellowship hall was beautifully arranged and tables were decorated in keeping with the Christmas spirit. Refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream, coffee and candies were served. Fathers were Santa apples and gum drop candle holders.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Uzle, Mrs. Cecil Harris, Mrs. James Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, Mrs. Harold Empson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patterson, Mrs. Bernice McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Street, Zack and Mindy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boatright, and Doris Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aldridge and Greta, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Brackney and Bill and Bob, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Starnes and Everett, Dr. and Mrs. Willard Rutherford and Carol and Paula Sue, Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Glen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Sloan Jr.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Street and Mrs. Daugherty.

Woman's Club Gives Party For Orthopedic Room Children

New records, and a new "23" speed attachment for the record player in the orthopedic room at Logan school, were presented by the Harrisburg Woman's club Monday, at the annual Christmas party held for children in the orthopedic room. Their teacher, Miss Ruth Brockett, was also presented with a personal gift, and all of the children received Santa Claus candies as favors.

Bill Plater, chalk artist and announcer at the WSL-TV, was present and entertained the boys and girls with his drawings.

Mrs. J. L. Miller, the club president, was assisted by Mrs. E. B. Hill, Mrs. G. B. Wiley, and Mrs. Herman Davis, in serving ice cream and cup cakes, which were iced with Christmas wreaths. Mrs. Miller opened the program by telling the Christmas story.

Jeanette and Howard Parker Entertain First Christian Church High School Class

Jeanette and Howard Parker entertained the high school class of the First Christian church at their home on West Parish Monday night.

After games and contests were played, gifts were exchanged. A card was signed and sent to the class president, Jerry Holden, who was absent because of a broken leg.

Mrs. Parker and daughter, Elaine, served ice cream, cookies and homemade candy to the following guests: Shirley Turner, Jane Hughes, Lynda Adams, Gertrude Harlow, Mary Lou Roberson, Jerry and Don Abby, Francis Stearnes, Bob Harlow, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray.

Social Brethren Soldiers For Jesus Class Has Party

The Dorrisville Social Brethren Soldiers for Jesus class held its Christmas social at the parsonage Friday, Dec. 17. The meeting opened with prayer by Louie Sweat, and roll call was answered with a Bible verse beginning with the letter "D."

Officers were elected and are as follows: Charles Hale, president; Gus Agin, vice president; Marian Hale, secretary; Alice Wilson, treasurer; and Shirley Guest, reporter.

Games were played and gifts exchanged. Through the Christmas spirit "It is better to give than receive" a love offering and a basket of food were given to two families.

An assortment of refreshments was served on a beautifully decorated table to Mrs. Echel Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ore Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Leighman Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Agin, Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Guest and Mr. and Mrs. Louie Sweat.

Dinner Party By Xi Beta Omega Chapter

The Xi Beta Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its annual Christmas dinner party Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Humm.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Humm, Mrs. Betty Hendrix, Mrs. Norma Johnson, Mrs. Sadie Lou Stricklin and Mrs. Margaret Moore.

As the guests arrived punch was served them from a gaily decorated tea cart. A delicious turkey dinner was served buffet style from a beautiful table covered with red cloth and decorated with gold bells and red bangles. This decoration was carried out throughout the house.

The highlight of the evening was the exchange of gifts from under a glittering gold tree and the revealing of mystery sisters. After the exchange of gifts, Mrs. John Molinarolo, at the piano, entertained with Christmas carols.

An evening of laughter and merriment was enjoyed by Mrs. Naida Upchurch, Mrs. Marylyce Morris, Mrs. Rose Lee Dorris, Mrs. Eleanor Molinarolo, Mrs. Marian Utter, Mrs. Pat Davenport, Mrs. Jean Gaskins, Mrs. Wilma Clark, Mrs. Wilma Rubel, Mrs. Lo Dema Taylor, Mrs. Martha Dixon, Mrs. Bernice Kimberlin, Mrs. Betty Jackson, and the hostess.

Christmas Party At Ralph Woolard Home

After the presentation of the Christmas cantata Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, members of the choir and their guests were invited to the beautifully decorated home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woolard for an informal get-together.

Gifts of appreciation were presented to Miss Frances Cummins, organist, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams, choir director and pianist.

Delicious refreshments of open-faced sandwiches, fruit cake, cookies, coffee and spiced tea were served buffet style to the following:

Messrs. and Mesdames D. H. Hiller, John Slightfoot, B. E. May, Bader Butler, V. E. Clayton, J. B. Clark, O. C. Heatherly, Calvin Sutton, Bob Burnett, Dan Minner, Mrs. Marjorie Sowers, Mrs. Pauline Hester and daughter, Phyllis, Mrs. Nellie Vaughn, Misses Shirley Smith, Susie Grammer and Shirley Josey, Russell Bartness and Bob Armistead.

Also present was G. R. Pelhank, Pontiac, Mich., father of Mrs. Woolard, who is a holiday guest in their home.

Daughters of Ruth Meet With Mrs. R. C. Fritts

The McKinley Baptist Daughters of Ruth class held its Christmas party at the home of Mrs. R. C. Fritts Thursday night.

The meeting opened with the song "Silent Night" after which Mrs. Beulah Pollard gave the devotion. Mrs. Ben Yarbrough led in prayer.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Wayne Kerr, after which Mrs. J. D. McCarty gave the closing prayer.

Games were conducted by Mrs. Wayne Newcomb and Mrs. Lewis Penrod with prizes going to Mrs. Richard Rumsey and Mrs. Eloise Koch.

Gifts were exchanged and refreshments of coffee, cakes and nut cake were served to those mentioned and to the following: Mrs. Clarence Hutchison, Mrs. George Butler, Mrs. Robert S. Keltner, Mrs. Bob Frantz, Mrs. Ewell Winkelman, Mrs. Herschel Brown, Mrs. Elden Vinyard, and three guests, Mrs. Carl Kuppert, Mrs. Herschel Fritts and Mrs. Guy Pankey.

Charles E. Hughes, 87, a former resident of Harrisburg, now residing with a son, Don, at Amarillo, Tex., visited briefly in Harrisburg Monday, failing to see many old friends to whom he would like to be remembered. He is an uncle of Mrs. P. W. Sherman, Miss Eva Hughes, and John Williford of Harrisburg, and was accompanied here by a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Mann, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crews, Robinson. Mr. Crews is a circuit court judge and is the youngest circuit court judge in southern Illinois. They were en route to Golconda to visit Judge Durfee, after which Mr. Hughes intended to fly back to Amarillo. He has for several years lived in Hollywood, Calif., where he was employed by one of the theatres until his retirement.

Christmas Party By Junior Baptist T. U.

Twenty were present Monday evening at a Christmas party by the Junior department of the Training Union of the First Baptist church. The party was held in the Youth building, the dining room of which was decorated with a Christmas tree, nativity scene and a small lighted church with steeple and bell.

Most exciting event of the evening was a contest to name the books of the Bible in order, with a toy suitcase filled with magic tricks as a prize, and Clo Clayton was the winner. Without hesitation this 10 year old youngster reeled off the names of all the books in order. Charles Businaro, who also named all of the books in the Bible, won the second prize, a set of 20 metal puzzles.

A Mr. and Mrs. Potato Head and a dart board were prizes won by Mack Mugge and Patricia McSparin.

In this union the children do all the planning of their music and games. Belle Turner played a saxophone solo. Others on the committee for games and music were: Julia Tellas, Verhinda Griffiths, Sandra Kay Kitzman, Sara Beth Rice, Billie Abney, and Mack Mugge.

Mrs. Paul Hays told the children a Christmas story, and after their music and games, a real live Santa Claus came to wish them a Merry Christmas and to distribute favors as tokens of his Christmas Eve visit.

Junior department officers in charge were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Porter and Charles Businaro, who were assisted by Mrs. Businaro and her sister, Mrs. Eva Wall, and by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Abney. Ice cream, cookies and popcorn balls and soda pop were served.

High School Home Bureau Unit Meets With Mrs. Bill Brashears

The High School unit of Home Bureau met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bill Brashears for the regular session.

Roll call was answered with "What I like best about Christmas."

The lesson on "Candlemaking" was given by Mrs. Louie Gaskins, and Mrs. Everett Stricklin talked on and demonstrated the art of "Gift Wrapping."

Three lovely candles made by Miss Lucille Lee were given as prizes.

Twenty-one members and two guests were present. Mrs. William Biggers became a new member.

Bankston Class Holds Christmas Meeting

The Friendship class of Bankston met at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dann for the Christmas meeting.

Rita Schwartz and Fern Boatright led in prayer and Mrs. Pearl Swan, the teacher, read from the second chapter of Luke.

Games were played with Lucy Young and Madlin Horn winning prizes. Mystery pals were revealed and gifts exchanged from beneath the Christmas tree. Refreshments were served.

Others present were Edna Wathen, Leah Travelstead, Pearl Abney, Juanita Thompson, Evelyn Parks, Lucille Harper, Lois Dowdy, Tressa Evans and Margeah Chaney.

Norma Jean Yates Bride of Cecil Allen

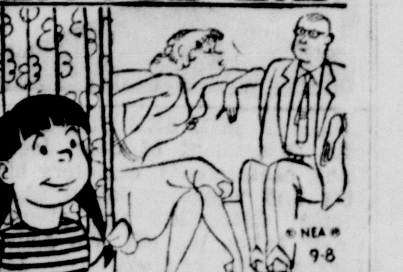

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yates of Harrisburg announce the marriage of their daughter, Norma Jean, to Cecil Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allen of Wasson. Marriage vows were exchanged Friday, Dec. 17, at Murphysboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thorpston of Stonefort have had as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor and daughter, Phyllis Ann, who returned to their home in Elgin this morning.

W. H. Carter is ill at his home on East Walnut street.

Carterville Youth Is Killed in Crash

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Frank L. Jones, 17, Carterville, was killed early today when a car he was driving went off Ill. 13 west of here.

Cost of Living Up Slightly Due To Auto Prices

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The cost of living edged up one-tenth of 1 per cent last month, due largely to the increased cost of buying a new 1955 automobile, the government reported today.

The consumer's price index, compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, previously had declined for three straight months.

If you didn't buy a new car, your living costs were probably down again in November, too. The boost in car costs resulted when liberal price concessions offered on 1954 models were eliminated with the introduction of 1955 models, the bureau explained.

Costs of food, house furnishings, reading and recreation were down in November. But rent, fuel, medical care, personal care, and household operations, went up.

Retail food prices fell six-tenths of 1 per cent, continuing a decline which began last August.

Food costs hit their lowest point since January, 1951, with meats, poultry, and fish prices down to pre-Korea levels.

ACP Sign-Up by Farmers Will Begin January 3

The 1955 ACP sign-up will start in January according to Paul B. Whitlock, chairman of the Saline County ASC committee.

The practices that are available for 1955 are as follows: Sod waterways, standard terraces, diversions, flumes, chutes and toe walls, ponds, tile outlets, land leveling or shaping, contour strip-cropping, contouring, intertilled crops, removal of brush from pasture land, pasture development, additional legumes on cropland, green manure seedings, limestone, tree planting, forest improvement, drainage ditches and rock phosphate.

Some of the above practices can be used on most of the farms in Saline county. They are very good soil building practices.

Plans are being formulated for sign-up meetings to be held in each township. Announcement will be made as to the date, place and time. The local township committee members with the assistance of one of the county committee will hold this sign-up. If farmers are unable to attend the sign-up in their township they may call at the county office.

The sign-up period according to Mr. Whitlock is Jan. 3 through February 18.

John W. Snider Rites at Ridgway

Funeral service for John William Snider, who died Monday in Ridgway, was held today at 2 p. m. at the T. B. Smith funeral home, the Rev. James R. Upchurch officiating. Burial was in Jones cemetery near Ridgway.

Damage from Eureka, Calif., Earthquake Passes Million Mark

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Damage from an earthquake that killed one person and injured at least 25 others passed the million dollar mark today.

The blast-like shock struck this quiet coastal town of 23,000 in northwestern California shortly before noon Tuesday. It was also felt in southern Oregon and northwestern Nevada, but was strongest in Eureka and its neighboring towns of Fortuna, Arcata, Ferndale, Fernbridge and Scotia.

As residents began cleaning up the debris, police warned that after shocks might topple one or more structures already weakened by the quake. One aftershock was reported at 8:55 p. m. Tuesday, but apparently caused no further damage. Wreckage from the quake was so widespread in downtown Eureka that Police Chief C. E. Emahiser roped off six central blocks and placed them out of bounds for persons without special business there. The 75-year-old Humboldt county courthouse was evacuated as unsafe.

At least 50 stores in Eureka were forced to close because of broken plate glass windows and damaged goods. Individual stores reported damage from $5,000 to $10,000 each.

The lone fatality was identified as Carl Wilkerson, 42, of Arcata. A falling timber pile knocked him from a wharf where he was eating lunch into Humboldt Bay.

The biggest cause for concern was a break in the 26-mile water supply line from Sycamore Dam. The line, which normally carries three million gallons of water a day, was losing more than two-thirds of its contents en route. Thirty minor breaks were found.

Joseph Lockhart, superintendent of public works, said Eureka will have to use its seven-day emergency reservoir supply until the damage is mended.

The shock measured 6.5 on the Richter scale of 10. It was the hardest in the Eureka area since June 6, 1932, when one woman was killed and three were hurt.

Closes Up Shop As Prophet; Looks for Job

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Charles Laughhead, whose predicted tidal wave didn't show up, closed up shop as a prophet today and went looking for a job.

Laughhead credited an 11th hour reprieve by the "general" in outer space with saving Chicago from the tidal wave that was supposed to engulf it Tuesday. He said he would have "nothing specific" to forecast henceforth.

The 44-year-old physician, who was fired from his job at Michigan State College because of his gloomy predictions, said he would spend Christmas with his family at East Lansing, Mich.

Then, he said, he will start looking for a new job, but he wasn't worried about finding one.

"I feel bigger things are in store for me," Laughhead said. "I'm not worried about a job."

Laughhead was reluctant to claim that the earthquake that hit California Tuesday confirmed his forecast of "cataclysmic" events to accompany the Chicago tidal wave.

However, Mrs. Dorothy Martin, who claims to be in contact with other-world informants, said she had been told that "seismic disturbances would accompany world-wide destruction."

Weather Bureau to Decide Method of Naming Hurricanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau will decide next month whether to continue using girl's names to identify hurricanes, a spokesman said today.

Norman R. Hagen, public information officer, said the decision will be made at a closed meeting of Weather Bureau, Navy and Air Force officials on plans for the 1955 hurricane season. The exact date has not been set.

Hagen said the bureau has been getting a lot of mail on the subject of hurricane names since three tropical storms, dubbed Carol, Edna and Hazel, wreaked havoc along the East Coast last fall.

Some of the writers object that the use of feminine names for vicious destructive winds is insulting to womanhood or unfair to real women with the same names. Others protest that the practice opens the door to inappropriate levity and wisecracks about storms that are very grim business to the victims.

But Hagen said the "overwhelming majority" of the letter writers "want the present hurricane naming system continued."

Sheppard Gets Life for Second Degree Murder

Dec. 29, in his bare-walled little cell No. 1B on the fourth floor of the county jail. Jailers know him as a model prisoner who never complains.

After Corrigan made his motion for the new trial, Dr. Sam, slim and still boyish-faced despite the hollows around his eyes, moved to the bench and was asked if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced.

"I'd like to say, sir," he began in his high, precise manner, "that I am not guilty. And I feel (here he swung, eyebrows raised, and faced the jury) there has been proof presented in this case that has definitely proven that I couldn't perform this crime."

He laid heavy stress on word "couldn't."

"The jury has found otherwise," Judge Blythin told him, and pronounced sentence.

Dr. Sam was led away, back to jail.

Big Christmas Bonuses Paid Many Employees

NEW YORK (AP) — As far as the employees in Wall Street are concerned, this is about the best Christmas ever.

They'll remember 1954 most as the year of the big Christmas bonus.

Allen & Co. led the "Pot O' Gold" parade this year by giving most of its employees a bonus equal to a year's pay.

Other major brokerage firms, including Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, Walston & Co., and Carlisle & Jacquelin, made Christmas payments ranging from $25 for newcomers to more than 20 weeks pay.

Bache & Co., one of the largest brokerage firms in the nation, set aside 25 per cent of its 1954 earnings as a kitty out of which it will pay the largest Christmas bonus in its 75-year history.

The bonus bonanza was not confined to the financial community. The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., the nation's largest food store chain, distributed a total of $2,300,000 to its employees for Christmas.

Republic Aviation paid $2,000,000 in bonuses to its workers.

The Grand Union Co., another large food chain, gave one week's salary to employees with at least one year's service and a turkey to all with the firm less than a year.

J. C. Penney Co., department store chain, paid bonuses ranging to two week's salary.

See Plenty of Pork Chops, Ham, Bacon Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ham, bacon and pork chops will be more plentiful and probably cheaper next year.

The Agriculture Department said today that "breeding intention" reports from 157,000 farmers indicate they plan to raise 58,500,000 pigs from Dec. 1 through June 1. This would be an increase of 5 per cent over the 1954 figure of 55,278,000 for the same period.

After about six months of fattening, these so-called "spring pigs" will begin going to market.

The department reported total pig production this year was 92,494,000, up 13 per cent from last year.

Hog prices, reflecting the increased production, declined sharply this fall.

Agriculture officials said they expect them to decline again "slightly" next year if the promised increase in supplies takes place.

Post Office Has Its Biggest Rush This Christmas

By PAUL SOUTHWICK
UNITED PRESS Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The postman is busy with the nation's biggest Christmas mail rush this month, and he has fewer extra helpers to handle the mountains of parcels and cards.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield believes it's better and cheaper to pay overtime to more of the 500,000 regular postal workers than to hire more outside, inexperienced helpers.

Last year the department hired 275,000 extra workers — college boys, housewives, would-be postmen and unemployed. That was 111,000 fewer than the previous year. It meant that regular mailmen collected more overtime.

Summerfield said this system resulted in such a big saving that he issued orders for more overtime this year and even fewer outside helpers.

In 109 of the largest post offices last year, 67,000 fewer helpers were hired and 1,440,000 more hours of overtime were worked by regular mailmen at a net saving of $4,800,000, Summerfield said.

Postal authorities also feel that extra overtime pay will be a good morale-booster for postal workers this year, particularly in view of the fact that they lost a chance for a five per cent pay rise through a presidential veto.

Several hundred postal inspectors were on the job this month keeping a virtual hour-by-hour check on the flow of mail. Bottle-necks are reported on a nationwide communications system and steps are taken immediately to overcome them.

Last year the reports were filed at Washington headquarters. This year, the reports go to nine regional headquarters for action.

Postmasters are given extra funds to handle the mail rush. It's pretty much up to them how they spend the money. Last year they paid an estimated $64,000,000 in overtime and for extra hire.

Last year, about 9,200,000 pieces of mail, an all-time record, were moved between Oct. 1 and Dec. 27, Summerfield said the load will be even larger this year.

Next Year
Postmasters may hire extra who can handle the job and who are between 18 and 65, don't have criminal records and aren't already drawing pay from another federal job. The pay is about $1.50 an hour, with 10 per cent extra for night work.

Winds, Raging Seas Lash North Europe Seawalls

LONDON (AP) — Winter blew into Europe today with near-hurricane winds and raging seas that disabled or damaged more than a dozen ships and sent storm-lashed waters of the North Atlantic over seawalls of Britain, Belgium, Holland, Ireland and Germany.

The seas were the roughest and the winds the highest since the disastrous storms that breached Dutch and Belgian dikes nearly two years ago.

Reports of storm casualties came from all over Europe and this was the dismal prelude to Christmas at sea.

Two German rescue ships were trying to save the crew of the leaking Swiss freighter Jura north of Bremerhaven.

The Swedish steamer Petra was being watched off the German coast by a Royal Air Force plane which reported that the ship had lost its front mast.

The big German fisherman "BS 418" was in distress in the North Sea and reported one of its sailors washed overboard and probably drowned.

by only a slim margin could be as bad as defeat.

He said strong approval would be the quickest way to get Big Four talks with Russia going and that failure to ratify the accords to bring 500,000 West German soldiers into the NATO forces and to restore German sovereignty would isolate France from her Western allies.

velopes face up for cancelling, to run cancelling machines, to hand-stamp bulky pieces, door-to-door deliveries, and for loading and unloading mail.

There's no limit to how long the postmaster can keep his extra help on the job. Unlike regular postmen, extras get no overtime pay if they work more than eight hours a day or more than 40 hours a week.

The hiring generally starts about Dec. 13 and extra hands are added to the payroll up until nearly Christmas time.

After Christmas, postal authorities immediately start on preparations for next year's rush — while the problems are still fresh.

Bull Dogs Beat Carbondale, 61-48

Will Play Same Team In Opening Round of Tournament Next Week

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs rolled up 31 free throws as they defeated the Carbondale Terriers, 61 to 48, in a non-conference basketball game at Davenport gym last night.

Last night's contest was a sort of a preview of the first Harrisburg tilt in the Egyptian holiday tourney here next week as the locals and the Terriers meet again in the final Tuesday night contest.

Last night's contest was not exactly phenomenal. The Carbondale crew of Coach Bill McBride shot a .189 percentage while Har-risburg's .285 was better but not excellent.

But in the free throw department Harrisburg made 31 out of 46 attempts and Carbondale made 18 out of 30. Each team made 15 field goals.

Price High Scorer

It was the third victory of the season for Coach G. E. Bland's boys, only one less than the locals had all last year, tournaments included.

Bland started David Anglin, who fouled out near the outset of the third quarter after sitting out much of the first half because of fouls. David Harrison, John Wilson, Don Price and Charles Polk with Gerald Wasson and Ronnie Williams the only other players getting in the game. With Anglin out, Bland used both of his big boys, Wilson and Wasson, in the game together most of the time. Price was high point man with 18, Wilson having 17.

Harrisburg ran up a 9-4 lead at the beginning but with a minute and 30 seconds to go in the frame Carbondale tied the count at 9-9. The quarter ended tied, 12-12.

Lead 29-24 at Half

Carbondale led during the first half of the second period, once making the count 19-16, but Harrisburg hit for 11 while Carbondale could hit for only four during the closing three minutes and at half-time the Bull Dogs were ahead by five points, 29-24.

The locals maintained leads ranging from five to nine points during the third period and when this quarter ended were out in front, 47 to 38. They extended their margin a bit in the last frame.

The Bull Pups, who went out into a nice lead in the first half, had to fight to win their game, 45-43, from the Carbondale freshman-sophomore team in the preliminary. Carbondale in the last half crept up until with a half minute to go the little Terriers tied the count at 43-43.

Then, with 12 seconds to go, Bennie Fulkerson swished one through the hoop for the winning basket — his first basket of the evening. John Ziegler was high point man for the locals with 18. Bill Henshaw had 11. Bryan Jones 9. Wayne Stone 5. Fulkerson 2. Bill Bottomley and Jim Cummins also got into the game.

There will be no local games this Christmas week-end. For four nights starting Monday there will be the Egyptian tourney here with Harrisburg and Carbondale meeting in the second contest Tuesday night.

Begin Play Tonight At Eldorado in Four-Team Tourney

Tonight at 7 o'clock play will commence in the four-team blind-draw basketball tournament at Eldorado.

Teams entered are Anna, Metropolis, Cairo and host Eldorado. The program will actually get underway about 6:30 when the captains of the four participating teams will gather at the officials' bench and draw for opponents and game times.

Teams drawing the opening game time will continue to warm up and the two teams drawing the second game assignment will retire. Tipoff time for the nightcap will be about 8:30.

Winners of tonight's games will meet in the final Thursday for the championship and tonight's losers will play in Thursday's consolation contest. There will be only one trophy.

This is the third year for this meet. The first was staged at Anna, with Anna defeating Eldorado for the title. Last time it was Anna and Eldorado in the championship clash, with the Eagles bringing the trophy home.

Next year will complete the round robin and will be at Metropolis.

Admission per session has been announced at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

The Greek philosopher, Socrates, left no writings of his own. His philosophy is known only through writings of his pupil, Plato.

Fans Want to See the Game, Not Listen to Referees' Whistle

When the center jump prefaced every field goal, there were comparatively few fouls in basketball. Defensive rules were not as strict. The athletes wore knee guards and elbow pads. The game was much rougher. More often than not there was only one official and he wasn't supposed to see everything that happened.

A combatant who got two or three free throws during a contest could be classed as a star, a much maligned player. He was "hard to guard," hence drew fouls—frequently for those days.

So the center jump was abandoned to speed things up and make the show more spectacular for the paying guests.

This quickly gave birth to a new description in basketball jargon—race horse.

This also was bad, ruled the rule-makers. Dr. James A. Naismith's game was now too rapid. There were too many fouls. The field goal became too cheap. So the men who think up these things decided to penalize the athlete who fouled.

The one-and-one rule would stop the eager beavers, thought the law-makers. That is, if at first you don't succeed, try again. The trouble with this was that few really tried to make the first one because they were assured of a second shot.

THIS WINTER the foulee who makes his first free throw gets a second attempt as a bonus. That's for being a good boy and trying to make the first one. If he misses the first one, the ball's in play. The penalty is severe enough, but if the field goal wasn't cheap already, now the free throw is about as valuable as a mill compared to a red cent.

Basketball has developed into a free throw game and the customers pay to see the game, not listen to a whistle. In a college game in the midst of the other night, 33 fouls were called against each side. The two teams made 107 free throws! In eight games in the red hot Indiana high school belt, the youngsters scored 255 points from the free throw line and missed 135 other chances. Although they hit only 57 per cent of their free throws, that represented almost one-third of the scoring.

And it goes without saying that foul shooting will become more proficient in colleges and high schools. It's increased importance demands this.

THERE ARE THOSE who contend that infractions could be cut down by putting a few bumps into basketball and eliminating the ball dancer.

"Put some pads on the players and allow some contact without penalty," they suggest.

That game already exists. It's played on ice with sticks and a black, flat puck.

There would be no sense in permitting players to undress one another, but the sport wouldn't suffer if officials gave defensive men a little more chance to play their men.

A single free throw would speed up and perhaps create a slightly rougher game, which wouldn't be bad, for both players and spectators like contact.

A defender would still be cautious about fouling because he goes out after five personals. That's check enough.

And the single free throw would be just half as exasperating to the fan.

Equality Runs Over Enfield, 69-49

Staging a 27-point fourth quarter, Equality's Cardinals ran roughshod over invading Enfield last night, 69-49. Ken Wooley, Equality center, poured in 37 points.

"Kayo" Willis' Cards piled up a 15-4 quarter advantage but then fell apart in the second. Enfield took hope as Equality faltered and roared into a 31-29 halftime lead.

Equality came back in the third to regain the lead and held a narrow 42-39 margin going into the fourth.

Wooley's 37 tallies came on 13 fielders and 11 of 15 free throw attempts.

Equality's reserves also won, 55-47.

Ridgway Beats Thompsonville For Sixth Victory

Ridgway's Eagles stopped Thompsonville, 61-56, in a slow, deliberate game last night on the Gallatin county school's floor. It was the second straight victory for Ridgway and their sixth of the season.

Thompsonville hopped off to a fast start, taking a 20-10 first quarter lead, but a 17-point second period spurt gave Ridgway a 27-26 edge at halftime. The Eagles maintained a slight advantage throughout the third and wound up on top 45-41 entering the fourth.

Ridgway was content to protect their small margin during the final canto to assure the triumph.

Tom Hodgson of the Tigers was high point man for the tussle, scoring 18. It was the fifth defeat in 11 games this year for Bob Munday's junior-studded club.

Connie Mack Will Be 92 Thursday

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Lean, white-haired Connie Mack, enjoying life in Florida's sunshine will observe his 92nd birthday here Thursday.

And the baseball immortal, who likes to "take life easy," is going strong toward realizing a hope to live to be 100.

Mack's son, Connie Jr., said the man who managed the Philadelphia Athletics more than a half century is back in good health and good spirits following a recent illness.

MIAMI, Fla. — Andy Mayfield, 129½, Miami, Fla., stopped Gus Rubicini, 157, Toronto (4).

Kentucky Trips Utah, 70-65, Plays La Salle Tonight in Tourney Final

By United Press

Coach Adolph Rupp, delighted with the 500th victory of his career by a 70-65 score over Utah, sends his mighty Kentucky team tonight against La Salle in the final round of Kentucky's own Holiday tournament.

The fabulous "Baron of the Blue Grass" was presented with his milestone triumph when his Wildcats broke out of a 65-65 tie with two minutes to go in Tuesday night's opening round at Lexington, Ky.

LaSalle, defending NCAA champion, won the other first-round, 49-38, over Southern California to move into tonight's finale, which now shapes up as the biggest game so far in the basketball season. And LaSalle is a team that Rupp would especially like to beat.

Rupp very much wanted that NCAA crown which LaSalle won — because he wanted to "show up" the NCAA for suspending Kentucky from all competition a year before. But he rejected a berth in the tournament because three of his players were ruled ineligible. Now he, and his players, would like to show they could have won that title.

Wildcats' 29th Straight

The triumph over Utah was Kentucky's 29th straight and its 127th straight home court victory. Utah battled back from a 36-31 halftime deficit and had the score tied, 65-65, with two minutes remaining. Then Bill Evans of Kentucky sank two free throws; Kentucky gained possession and stalled until the closing seconds when it added another basket and free throw. Bill Gravemeier led Kentucky scoring with 27 points while Art Bunte had 19 for Utah.

LaSalle, beaten by Utah last Saturday, had to rally from an 11-point deficit midway in the first half to beat Southern California. The Trojans still held a 22-21 margin at halftime but All-America Tom Gola sparked LaSalle in a second-half drive. Gola took scoring honors with 24 points.

Another major Holiday tournament, the All-College at Oklahoma City, comes to a climax tonight with George Washington playing San Francisco.

George Washington moved into the finals with a 66-61 victory over Tulsa in Tuesday night's semifinals despite 28 points by Tulsa's Bob Patterson.

San Francisco romped into the finals with a 75-61 decision over Oklahoma City as Bill Russell led the scoring with 25 points. In All-College consolation games, Wyoming nipped Oklahoma A and M, 52-50, and Wichita beat Houston, 98-87.

Ohio State Upset, 74-62

A major upset Tuesday night saw California hand Ohio State, ranked No. 7 nationally, its first loss of the year, 74-63, at Berkeley, Calif. California led almost all the way despite 23 points by State's Robin Freeman, the nation's top scorer. The same two teams meet again tonight.

Five other nationally ranked teams, including top-ranked Illinois, came through with victories. Illinois drubbed Rice, 86-54, at Houston as Bruce Brothers and Bill Ridley had 16 points each.

North Carolina State (No. 5) was forced into overtime to beat St. John's, 76-75, at Madison Square Garden, New York, on two free throws by Phil Dinardo with 13 seconds left. Dayton (No. 6) ran its record to 7-0 by whipping Oregon, 71-55, at Dayton although Oregon's Jim Loscutt took scoring honors with 20 points. UCLA (No. 11) defeated Colorado, 65-62, and Holy Cross (No. 18) crushed Boston College, 81-79.

Galatia Defeats Karnak, 78 to 64

Galatia's Bearcats put an end to their three-game losing streak last night by defeating host Karnak, 78-64. It was the third victory in ten games for the Mirandamen.

Gunman, 19, Shot To Death After Killing Policeman

ALLEN, Mich. (U.P.)—A 19-year-old gunman who killed one Allen policeman and pistol-whipped another was shot to death early today when he drew a gun at an Ohio highway patrol roadblock.

The gunman was identified from papers found on his body as Elmer Anderson Jr., of Lansing, Mich. Authorities also identified him as the bandit who held up a supermarket and hardware store in Indiana Tuesday night.

Hillsdale county authorities flashed a three-state alarm later Tuesday night after the fatal shooting of policeman Ivan Wilson, 34, and the clubbing of his companion, Gerald Chase, 40.

Architectural engineering was first recognized as a college subject at the University of Illinois, where the pioneering course started in 1890.

Madness In The Spring

By Elinore Dennison

XXX

The first intimation of the collective insanity that was to affect the whole state within a matter of weeks came the next morning when Daggett refused to be shaved.

"I'll do as I please," Daggett snapped, but he was a trifle ruffled. "If we are going to put this idea over we've got to do it right. Atmosphere! That's the thing that counts."

Hannah knocked on the door, bringing Daggett's breakfast on a tray. In a few moments Rupert and Kirby joined them.

Like men facing graver issues, they were united on their goal but divided on the best means of reaching it, and they were all vociferous.

"Now then," Greg began, when he had collected all eyes and their respectful attention, "let's use our heads about this. So far all we've had is yakety-yak. The idea is to revive this ghost town so it will attract the tourist trade. Right?" They agreed.

"First, we prepare the ground." He opened a notebook flat on the table and the old man, incorrigibly curious, leaned forward and saw that the pages were filled with meticulous lists, each under its proper heading. "This will give you a general idea of what has to be accomplished. We'll have to put up some more log cabins or their equivalent to handle the tourists who come to stay. That means getting in carpenters and building supplies pronto. I'll take that over. Next, we need cooks and waitresses for the restaurant, maids for the hotel, and a lot of supplies, dishes and glasses and kettles and stuff. Hannah, that's your department. We'll have to get hold of some appropriate western souvenirs to sell. Mr. Daggett, you'll probably find a manufacturer in New Jersey to turn them out for you. And we ought to get hold of some old-timer to sell them. Someone who is authentically phony. Then we'll need entertainers. Rupert, that's your forte."

He paused for a moment, wringing his brow and looking so young and solemn and cocksure that Hannah's heart turned over with tenderness.

"But how," she asked, "are you going to get people to come?"

Daggett spoke up. "Kirby," he said firmly, "is our publicity man. He'll get us an audience if he has to carry them in one at a time on his own back."

"That," Kirby said flatly, "is blackmail."

"Before you bring out any complaints, you have to remember that at this point you are the man who killed Santa Claus, who destroyed a popular illusion. You've got to rehabilitate yourself."

"There's no point in staging a comeback, you know," Daggett told him, "until you have succeeded in rebuilding your popularity. You can't go through the rest of your life with amnesia. You've got to remember sooner or later who you are and then—"

Kirby was wary. "And then what?"

"Do something about that poor woman—the widow of the man who shot himself."

"How? Marry the gal?"

"You are not in the groove,"

Rupert told him. "This is what happened: Knowing you were unable to continue your work because of your general unattractiveness, your slow mind, your total lack of charm, your ineffectual masculinity—"

he ignored Kirby's anguished yelp of protest—"you lost your memory. There is a blank. When you remember who you are you find yourself at Dead Man's Gulch. You say to yourself, 'I must find that woman.'"

"Then," put in Hannah, getting into the spirit of the thing, "you bring her here and she lives happily ever after."

Daggett was furious. "You are leaving me out. I found Kirby. I realized that, in spite of his unprepossessing manner, he had a heart of gold, particularly when I discovered that he had arranged an annuity for Perkins' widow. So I asked him to act as master of ceremonies for the Grand Opening—and, we've got a million dollars' worth of publicity."

"Then what?" Kirby had his back to the wall.

"Then," Daggett said suavely, "Horace Crain snaps up as master of ceremonies for his new television program."

"So far," Kirby pointed out, "Horace Crain hasn't got a television program."

"Look," Greg said, "you're all nuts. Do you think for a single moment that anyone is going to believe a trumped-up story like that? Believe Kirby really had amnesia and drifted out here?" "Well, now, I'm not so sure," Daggett said thoughtfully. "It's the kind of story people like to believe, which is half the battle. And it kills two birds with one stone."

Kirby was down but not out. "And there's another thing. All right, I made a mistake about Perkins. I'll look after his wife. But the 'poor girl' stuff I don't take. She's a shrew if there ever was one. So let's drop her pathos, shall we? I'll carry her weight until I die and maybe that's fair enough. But that's as far as I go. I still say you are basing everything on persuading Mr. Crain to buy this folklore program, starting with the opening of Dead Man's Gulch. It's got the ingredients for a show, but you haven't any reason whatsoever for thinking he will buy it."

"That," Daggett said, "is up to Greg."

"If I told my stepfather our idea, he'd laugh at it," Greg said, "but if he thought he was putting something over, he'd jump at it."

Mild Nation

The Dominican Republic has a consistently mild climate, with a year-round mean temperature of 77 degrees. Cooling trade winds do the trick.

Winter Arrives Officially With Surprises

By United Press

Old Man Winter made his official arrival in the nation today and brought along some surprises.

In Wyoming and Montana, the temperatures were higher than they were in most of Florida. Women in Miami, Fla., put on fur jackets to do their Christmas shopping.

New York City, where the weather generally isn't too severe, was one of the chilliest places in the nation. The temperature was expected to go to 5 or 10 degrees above zero today.

New England, however, maintained its wintry tradition with a snow storm that cancelled air traffic at Boston, Mass., and piled up to 16 inches of snow at Portsmouth, N. H.

Winter began officially at 3:25 a. m. CST. It was the shortest day of the year.

The U. S. Weather Bureau hazarded a prediction that most of the northeast quarter of the nation will have a white Christmas.

In a special advisory, the bureau said there will be snow on the ground next Saturday from eastern North Dakota and western Illinois to the coastal places from New Jersey through Virginia.

However, the snow cover is likely to be spotty in the plains areas and, except for parts of the Appalachians and the West, it won't be a white Christmas elsewhere in the nation.

Dulles Warns Reds Cutback Shows A-Power

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has warned the Communist world that the administration's decision to reduce the size of the armed forces is no sign of weakness.

It is, instead, an indication of the United States' growing strength in powerful new weapons, Dulles said. The more destructive our weapons, the less we need to depend on large forces of military manpower, he argued.

Dulles said if the administration decision "is looked upon as weakness, that is a completely false judgment of the situation." And he emphasized no troops will be pulled out of western Europe which he described as a "prize of unique value" that must be heavily defended.

But Dulles' warning to the Communists did not stem the controversy over the proposed manpower cutbacks in this country. A growing number of Democrats were questioning the president's plan to trim the armed forces by 403,000 men within the next 18 months.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today it would be "wise and prudent" for the President to withhold such action until Congress enacts some form of expanded military reserve program. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman-designate of the House committee, had questioned the wisdom of the cutback earlier.

Millhouse Rites at Golconda Thursday

Funeral service for Walter Millhouse, who died Monday afternoon at his home in Rosiclare, will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Lutheran church in Golconda. Rev. John Karlin, pastor, will officiate at the service, after which the body will be sent to Plattsville, Wis., for burial. Mr. Millhouse's body will be in state at the Hosiek funeral home in Rosiclare until 9 a. m. Thursday, at which time it will be taken to the church at Golconda.

Stamp sales at overseas Army post offices amounted to $10,836, 272 during 1953.
